stands as previously reported. Practically every woman and child, with the exception of those women who refused to leave their husbands, were saved. Among these last was Mrs. Isador Straus.

The survivors on the lifeboats saw the lights of the stricken vessel glimmer to the last, heard her band playing, and saw the doomed hundreds on her deck and heard their groans and cries when the vessel sank. Accounts vary as to the extent of the disaster on board.

Titanic Had Speed Orders.

Not only was the Titanic tearing through the April night to her doom with every ounce of steam crowded on, but she was under orders from the general officers of the line to make all the speed on which she was capable. This was the statement made tonight by J. H. Moody, a quartermaster on the vessel and boatsman on the night of the disaster. He said the ship was making 21 knots an hour, and the officers were striving to live up to the orders to smash the record.

"It was close to midnight," Moody said, "and I was on the bridge with the second officer who was in command. Suddenly he shouted, 'port your helm.' I did so, but it was too late. Then we struck the submerged portion of the berg."

Shock Not Great.

Of the many accounts given by the passengers most of them agreed that the shock when the Titanic struck the iceberg, although ripping her sides like a giant can opener, did not greatly jar the vessel, for the blow was a glancing one along her side. The accounts also agree, substantially, that when the passengers were taken off on the lifeboats there was no serious panic and that many wished to remain on board the Titanic, believing her to be unsinkable.

The most distressing stories are those giving the experiences of the passengers in lifeboats. These tell not only of their own suffering, but give the harrowing details of how they saw the great bulk of the Titanic stand on end, stern uppermost, for many minutes before plunging to the bottom. As this spectacle was witnessed by the groups of survivors in the boats they plainly saw many of those whom they had just left behind leaping from the decks in the water.

Investigation Is Begun.

J. B. Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine, owners of the White Star line, who was among the seventy-one saved; P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the White Star line, and United States Senator W. A. Smith, chairman of the senate investigating committee, held a conference aboard the Carpathia soon after the passengers had come ashore tonight. After nearly an hour Senator Smith came out of the cabin and said he had no authority to summon witnesses at this time but would begin an investigation into the cause of the loss of the Titanic tomorrow.

He announced that Mr. Ismay had consented to appear at the hearing and that Mr. Franklin and the four surviving officers of the Titanic would appear for examination by the senate committee. He said the investigation would follow would be determined after the preliminary hearing.

Senator Smith was questioned as to the speed the Titanic was going when she crashed into the iceberg. He said he had asked Mr. Ismay, but declined to give Mr. Ismay's reply.

Multiple Throated Docks.

The arrival of the Carpathia brought a vast multitude of people to the Canal docks, overflowing for blocks and crowded the nearby streets in a dense throng. Through it all the rain fell steadily adding a funeral aspect to the scene. The landing of the survivors was attended with little excitement, the crowd standing in awe-like silence as the groups from the ship passed along. The debarking of passengers was quickly disposed of by the waiting of the usual formality that practically everything had been concluded by 10:30 o'clock. The crowds remained about the pier long after this, however, to get a glimpse of the rescuing steamer and to hear the harrowing stories which had been brought back by the ship.

The two hundred or more steerage passengers did not leave the ship until 11 o'clock. They were in a bad condition. The women were without wraps and the few men there were, were very little clothed. One poor Syrian woman who said she was Mrs. Habush bouna for Youngstown, Ohio, carried in her arms a 6 year old baby girl. The child wore only a light calico dress, was barefooted and bareheaded. This woman had lost her husband and three brothers. "I lost four of my five folks," she cried.

Suicide Story Denied.

"One of the most sensational stories that came from the Carpathia was one that Captain Smith and the first officer and the chief engineer had shot themselves when they realized that the ship was doomed. These reports could not be confirmed; in fact they were denied by most of the passengers, although one or two said that they had heard there was some shooting."

The Titanic's four rescued officers were placed aboard the Red Star liner Labrador for the night. They refused to talk, saying they were under instructions to give no information except to the senate committee.

Jumped Into Ocean.

E. Z. Taylor of Philadelphia, one of the survivors, jumped into the sea just three minutes before the boat sank. He told a graphic story of how he came from the Carpathia.

"There was an awful shock that made the boat tremble from stem to stern. We were told that an iceberg had been struck by the ship. I felt the boat rise and it seemed to me that she was sliding over the lee. I ran on deck and then I could see a white cap of ice and the boat was rocking over it. I should say that some of the iceberg were 50 feet high. But it had been broken into sections, probably by our ship."

"I jumped with the wave," he said, "just as I often have jumped with the breakers at the seashore. It was a great good fortune I managed to jump the brass railing on the deck and hang on by my hands and feet. When the ship plunged down I was forced to let go and I was swept around for what seemed to me an interminable time. Eventually I came to the surface to find the sea a mass of tangled wreckage. I managed to seize a wooden grating floating nearby. When I had recovered my breath I discovered a larger canvas cork life drift. A man whose name I did not learn was struggling toward it from some wreckage. I went to him and helped him to get on the raft and we then began the work of rescuing those who had jumped in to the sea and were drowning in the water."

Had Both Legs Broken.

Mrs. Churchill Candee of Washington was taken from the Carpathia with both legs broken. She was hurried in an ambulance to a hospital. Mrs. Candee said she received her injuries while getting into a lifeboat. Most of the men saved, she declared, were picked up from the water, having plunged overboard after the lifeboats had been launched.

"Major Archibald Butt and Col. John Jacob Astor died like heroes," he said, but before she could tell more of the story of their end she was hurried away.

MRS. ASTOR VISITED

PARENT'S HOME.

Spent Brief Time With Family Before Going to Own Residence—In No Condition to Talk.

New York, April 18.—At the home of William H. Foster, father of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, a member of the family said to night that Mrs. Astor had visited her father for a few moments after landing from the Carpathia and then departed for the Astor residence on Upper Fifth avenue. Mrs. Astor was said to be as well as could be hoped for her in view of her condition, but in no condition to discuss the details of the disaster.

While utterly exhausted from her experiences, Mrs. John Jacob Astor was declared to night by Nicholas Biddle, a trustee of the Astor estate, to be in no danger whatever. Her physicians, however, had given orders that neither Mrs. Astor nor her maid, who was saved with her, be permitted to talk about the disaster.

On landing from the Carpathia, the young bride, widowed by the Titanic's sinking, told members of her family what she could recall of the circumstances of the disaster. How Col. Astor met his death, she had not definite recollection. She recalled, she thought, that in the confusion as she was about to be put into one of the boats the colonel was standing by her side. After that, as Mr. Biddle recounted her narrative, she had no clear recollection of the happenings until the steamer was well clear of the sinking

STATEMENT BY COMMITTEE OF SURVIVORS.

New York, April 18.—The following statement issued by a committee of the surviving passengers was given the press on the arrival of the Carpathia:

"We, the undersigned surviving passengers from the steamship Titanic, in order to forestall any sensational or exaggerated statements, deem it our duty to give to the press a statement of facts which have come to our knowledge and which we believe to be true."

"On Sunday, April 14, 1912, at about 11:10 p. m., on a cold, starlight night, in a smooth sea and with no moon, the ship struck an iceberg which had been reported to the bridge by lookouts, but not early enough to avoid collision."

"Steps were taken to ascertain the damage and save passengers and ship. Orders were given to put on life belts and the boats were lowered. The ship sank at about 2:20 a. m. Monday and the usual distress signals were sent out by wireless and rockets at intervals from the ship. Fortunately the wireless message was received by the Commander Carpathia at about 12 o'clock midnight and she arrived on the scene of the disaster about 1 a. m. Monday."

"The officers and crew of the steamship Carpathia had been preparing all night for the rescue and comfort of the survivors and the last moments were received on board with the most touching care and kindness every attention being given irrespective of class."

"The passengers, officers and crew gave up gladly their state-rooms, clothing and comforts for our benefit, all honor their."

"The English board of trade passengers' certificate on board the Titanic showed approximately 3,500. The same certificate called for lifeboat accommodation for approximately 950 in the following boats:

"Fourteen large lifeboats, two smaller boats and four collapsible boats."

"Life preservers were accessible and apparently in sufficient number for all on board."

"The approximate number of passengers carried at the time of the collision were:

"First class, 330; second class, 320; third class, 750; total, 1,400. Officers and crew, 910. Total, 2,310."

"Of the foregoing about the following were rescued by the Carpathia:

"First class, 210; second class, 125; third class, 200; officers, 1; seamen, 39; stewards, 90; firemen, 71. Total, 210 of the crew."

"The total, about 745 saved, was about 80 per cent of the maximum capacity of the lifeboats."

"We feel it our duty to call the attention of the public to what we consider the inadequate supply of life-saving appliances provided for on modern passenger steamships, and recommend that immediate steps be taken to compel passenger steamers to carry sufficient boats to accommodate the maximum number of people carried on board. The following facts were observed and should be considered in this connection:

"The insufficiency of lifeboats, rafts, etc.; lack of trained seamen to man same (stokers, stewards, etc.); are not efficient boat hands; not enough officers to carry out emergency orders on the bridge, and supervised the launching and control of lifeboats; absence of searchlights."

"The board of trade rules allow for entirely too many persons in each boat to permit the same to be properly handled. On the Titanic the boat deck was about 75 feet above water, and consequently the passengers were required to embark before lowering boats, thus endangering the operation and preventing the taking on of the maximum number of boats would hold. Boats at all times to be properly equipped with provisions, water, lamps, compasses, lights, etc. Life-saving boat drills should be more frequent and thoroughly carried out; and officers should be arranged for boat drills for the reduction in speed in fog and ice as damage if collision actually occurs is liable to be less."

"In conclusion, we suggest that an international conference be called to recommend the passage of identical laws providing for the safety of all at sea and we urge the United States government to take the initiative as soon as possible."

The statement was signed by Samuel Goldenberg, chairman, and a committee of some twenty-five passengers."

ENGLISHMAN TELLS ABOUT COLLISION

MR. BEASLEY OF LONDON SAYS
PASSENGERS WERE SLOW TO REALIZE DANGER.

Order for Life Preservers Deemed Precautionary—Remarkable Calm
Prevailed—Tells of Struggling
Hundreds in Ice Water.

New York, April 18. Following is the account of Mr. L. Beasley of London:

"On Sunday evening it was almost too cold to be out on deck. I had been in my berth for about ten minutes, when, at about 11:15 p. m., I felt a slight jar and then soon after a second one, but not sufficiently large to cause any anxiety to any one, however nervous they may have been. However, the engines stopped immediately afterward and my first thought was 'she has lost a propeller.' I went on top in a dressing gown and found only a few persons there, who had come up similarly to inquire why we had stopped, but there was no anxiety in the minds of anyone. We saw through the smoking room window a game of cards going on and went to inquire if they knew anything. It seemed they felt more of the jar and looking through the window and seeing the iceberg go by close to the side of the boat. They thought we had just grazed it with a glancing blow and the engines had been stopped to see if any damage had been done. No one, of course, had any conception that she had been plied below by part of the submerged iceberg."

Order for Life Preservers.

"I went down again to put on warmer clothing and as I dressed heard an order shouted:

"All passengers on deck with lifebelts on."

"We all walked slowly up with them tied on over our clothing, but even then presumed this was a mere precaution the captain was taking. But in a few moments we saw the covers lifted from the boats and the crew allotted to them standing by and curling up the ropes which were to lower them by the pulley blocks into the water."

"We then began to realize that it was more serious than had been supposed; presently we heard the order: 'All men stand back away from the boats and all ladies retire to the next deck below—the smoking room deck or B deck. The men all stood away and remained in absolute silence leaning against the end railings of the deck or pacing slowly up and down. The boats were swung out and lowered from a deck. When they were to the level of B. deck, where all the ladies were collected, the ladies got in quietly, with the exception of some who refused to leave their husbands. In some cases they were torn from them and pushed into the boats, but in many instances they were allowed to remain because there was no one to insist they should go."

Orders to Boat Crews.

"One officer in uniform came up as one of the boats went down and shouted: 'When you are about, row around to the companion ladder and stand by with other boats for orders.'"

"Aye, Aye, Sir" came up the reply, but I don't think any boat was able to obey the order."

"When they were about and had the oars at work the condition of the rapidly settling boat was so much more a sight for alarm for those in the boats than those on board, that in common prudence the sailors saw they could do nothing but row from the sinking ship to save at any rate some lives. They no doubt anticipated that suction from such an enormous vessel would draw them into it, but they were not usually dangerous to a crowded boat mostly filled with women."

Remarkable Calm Prevailed.

"All this time there was no trace of any disorder. It was extraordinary how calm everyone was and how completely self-controlled."

"By one of the boats were filled with women and children, lowered and rowed away into the night."

"Presently I heard the call, 'any more ladies?' Looking over the side of the ship, I saw the boat, No. 12, swinging level with B deck, half full of ladies. The call was repeated."

"I saw none come on, and then one of the crew looked up and said: 'Any ladies on your deck, sir?'"

"No," I replied.

"Then you had better jump."

"I dropped in and fell into the bottom, as they cried 'lower away.'"

Tossed Infant Into Boat.

"As the boat began to descend two ladies were pushed—hardly heaved over into the boat and a baby of ten months passed down after them."

"About 2 a. m., as near as I can remember, we observed the Titanic settling rapidly with the bows and the bridge completely under water. She slowly tilted straight on and with the stern vertically upwards and as she did, the light in the cabins and saloons, which had not flickered for a moment since we left, died out, came on again for a single flash and finally went out all together. At the same time the machinery roared down through the vessel with a rattle and a grunting that could be heard for miles."

Hundreds Cried for Help.

"Then with a slanting dive, she disappeared beneath the waters. And then, there fell on the ear the most appalling noise that human being ever listened to—the cries of hundreds of our fellow beings struggling in the icy cold water, crying for help with a cry that we knew could not be answered."

MEN AND WOMEN GIVE DETAILS OF TITANIC'S END

TESTIFY THAT TRAGEDY AT SEA WILL LIVE FOREVER IN MEMORY

Force of Collision Not Felt By Many Passengers—Col. Gracie Last Man Rescued—President Hays Had Predicted Disaster From Rivalry of Companies—Wife Parted From Husband For Babe's Sake—Other Incidents Told.

New York, April 18.—A passenger on the Carpathia made the following statement:

"About 3 o'clock I awakened and noticed that the boat had stopped. I went to the deck. The Carpathia had changed her course. Lifeboats were sighted and began to arrive—and soon they drew up to our side. There were sixteen in all and the transferring of the passengers was most pitiable. The adults were assisted in climbing the rope ladders by ropes adjusted to their waist. The little children and babies were hoisted to the deck in bags. Some of the boats were crowded; a few were not half full. This, I could not understand. Some people were in full evening dress. Others were in their night clothing and were wrapped in blankets. Those with immigrants in all sorts of shapes, were hurried into the saloon indiscriminately for a hot breakfast. They had been in the open boats four or five hours in the most biting air I ever experienced. There were husbands without wives; wives without husbands; parents without children, and children without parents. But there was no demonstration. No sobbing—scarcely a word was spoken. They seemed to be stunned."

Religious Services Held.

Immediately after breakfast religious services were held in the saloon. One woman died in the lifeboat, three others died soon after reaching our deck; their bodies were buried in the sea at 5 o'clock that afternoon. None of the rescued had any clothing except what they had on, and a relief committee was formed and our passengers contributed enough to supply their immediate needs."

Band Was Playing.

"When her lifeboats were pushed away from the steamer survivors said, the steamer was brilliantly lighted, the band was playing and the captain was standing on the bridge giving directions. The bow was well submerged, and the keel rose high above the water. Suddenly the boat seemed to break in two. The next moment everything disappeared. The survivors were so close to the sinking steamer that they feared the lifeboats would be drawn into the vortex. There were preparations for a brilliant party to be given on board the next evening."

"On our way back to New York we steamed along the edge of a field of ice which seemed limitless. As far as the eye could see to the north there was no blue water. At one time I counted thirteen icebergs."

Last Man to Leave Boat.

Col. Archibald Gracie, U. S. A., the last man saved, went down with the vessel, but was picked up. He was met to night by his daughter, who had arrived from Washington, and his son-in-law, Paul H. Fabrics. Col. Gracie told a remarkable story of personal hardship and denied emphatically the reports that there was any panic on board. He praised in the highest terms the behavior of both the passengers and crew and paid a high tribute to the heroism of the women passengers."

"Mrs. Isador Straus," he said, "went to her death because she would not desert her husband. Although he pleaded with her to take her place in the boat she steadfastly refused and when the ship settled at the head the two were engulfed by the wave that swept her."

Col. Gracie told of how he was driven to the topmost deck when the ship settled and was the sole survivor after the wave swept her just before her final plunge had passed. "I jumped with the wave," he said.

No Revolvers Used.

Col. Gracie denied with emphasis that any men were fired upon and declared that only once was a revolver discharged.

"This was for the purpose of intimidating some steerage passengers," he said, "who had tumbled into a boat before it was prepared for launching. This shot was fired in the air and when the foreigners were told that the next would be directed at them they promptly returned to the deck. There was no confusion and no panic."

Contrary to the general expectation there was no jarring impact when the vessel struck, according to the army officer.

Hays Predicted Disaster.

"Before I retired," said Col. Gracie, "I had a long chat with Charles H. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railway. One of the last things Mr. Hays said was this: 'The White Star, the Cunard and the Hamburg-American lines are devoting their attention and ingenuity in vying with the other to attain the supremacy in luxurious ships and in making speed records. The time will soon come when this will be checked by some appalling disaster.' Poor fellow, a few hours later he was dead."

"The conduct of Col. John Jacob Astor was deserving of the highest praise," Col. Gracie declared.

"The millionaire New Yorker," he declared, "devoted all his energies to saving his young bride, nee Miss Force of New York, who is in delicate health."

"Col. Astor helped us in our efforts to get her in the boat. I lifted her into the boat and as she took her place Col. Astor requested permission of the second officer to go with her for protection."

"No sir," replied the officer, "not a man shall go on a boat until the women are all off." Col. Astor then turned to the work of clearing the other boats and in reassuring the frightened and nervous women."

"By this time the ship began to list frightfully to port. This became so dangerous that the second officer ordered every one to rush to the starboard. This we did and we found the crew trying to get a boat off in that quarter. Here I saw the last of John B. Thayer and George R. Widener of Philadelphia."

Col. Gracie said that despite the warnings of icebergs no slowing down of speed was ordered by the commander of the Titanic.

Little Alarm at First.

"When the vessel struck," he continued, "the passengers were so little alarmed that they joked over the matter. The few that appeared on deck early had taken their time to dress properly and there was not the slightest indication of a panic. Some of the fragments of ice had fallen on the deck and these were picked up and passed around by the more cautious ones, who offered them as mementos of the occasion."

One of the last women seen by Col. Gracie, he said, was Miss Evans of New York, who virtually refused to be rescued because of the army officer she "had been told by a fortune teller in London that she would meet her death on the water."

Fifth Officer's Great Work.

A young Englishman, who asked that his name be omitted told a thrilling story of her appearance in one collapsible boat which had been manned by eight of the crew from the Titanic. The boat was in command of the fifth officer, H. Lowe, whose actions she described as saving the lives of many people. Before the lifeboat was launched he passed along the port side of the steamer, commanding the people not to jump in the boats and otherwise restraining them from swamping the craft. When the collapsible was launched, Officer H. Lowe succeeded in putting up a mast and a small sail. He collected the other boats together. In some cases the boats were short of adequate crews and he directed an exchange by which each was adequately manned. He threw lines connecting the boats together two by two and all afloat moved together. Later he went back to the wreck with the crew of one of the boats and succeeded in picking up some of those who had jumped overboard and were swimming about. On his way back to the Carpathia he passed one of the collapsible boats which was on the point of sinking with thirty passengers afloat, most of them in night clothing. They were rescued just in the nick of time."

Brother and Sister Saved.

Among the first passengers off the Carpathia was Mrs. Paul Schaeber of Berlin, Germany. She said she had a state room on the port side and had sailed with her brother Philip. She declared that her brother was saved because she refused to leave him.

"I was awakened by the shock of the collision and went on deck," she said. "There was little excitement. Suddenly from the bridge came the cry: 'Ladies first.' This was the first inkling we had that the ship was in danger. I went back to my stateroom and dressed and then as I returned to the deck I heard the horrifying order that women must leave their husbands and brothers. I refused to leave my brother and finally he was shoved into the boat with me."

"My Isador Straus, who had a stateroom near me, declared that under no circumstances would she leave Mr. Straus. As we pushed away from the Titanic the ship started to go down and as she disappeared beneath the water Mr. and Mrs. Straus were standing arm in arm."

INCIDENTS OF DISASTER

Story of Disaster by Staff Correspondent of New York World on Board Carpathia.

New York, April 18.—How the Titanic sank is told by Charles F. Hurd, a staff correspondent of the Evening World, who was a passenger on the Carpathia, and who tonight furnished that newspaper with his account.

Heroism Displayed.
He gives the number of lives lost as 1,700. He praises highly the courage of the crew, hundreds of whom gave their lives with a heroism which equalled, he said, not exceeded, the account says, that of Col. John Jacob Astor, Henry B. Harris, Jacques Furelle and others in the long list of cabin passengers.

Band Played Great Hymn.
It was the explosion of the boilers, according to Hurd, which finally finished the Titanic's career. The bulkhead system, though probably working, prevailed only to delay the ship's sinking. The position of the ship's wound on the starboard quarter, admitted water, according to Hurd's story, which caused the boilers to explode, and these explosions broke the ship in two.

Band Played Great Hymn.
The ship's strong band, gathered in the saloon near the end, the narrative says, and played "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The account continues: "The crash against the iceberg, which had been slighted only a quarter mile distance, came almost simultaneously with the click of the levers operated from the bridge, which stopped the engines and closed the watertight doors. Captain Smith was on the bridge a moment later, summoned all on board to put on life preservers and ordered the life boats lowered.

"Women First" Rule Enforced.
The first boats had more male passengers, as the men were the first to reach the deck. When the rush of frightened men and women and crying children to the deck began, the "women first" rule was rigidly enforced. Officers drew revolvers, but in most cases there was no use for them. Revolver shots were heard shortly before the Titanic went down, caused many rumors, one that Captain Smith shot himself, and another that First Officer Murdoch had ended his life, but members of the crew discredit these rumors.

Ship Moved at Great Speed.
It was testified to by several survivors that the Titanic was going 23 knots an hour when she crashed into the iceberg.

Facts Established.
The Morning World to-morrow will publish Mr. Hurd's story in detail. In addition to the foregoing Mr. Hurd said in part:

"Facts which I have established by inquiries on the Carpathia, as positively as they could be established in view of the silence of the few surviving officers are:

"That the Titanic's officers knew, several hours before the crash, of the possible nearness of the iceberg.

"That the Titanic's speed, nearly 23 knots an hour, was not slackened.

"That the number of life boats on the Titanic was insufficient to accommodate more than one third of the passengers, to say nothing of the crew. Most members of the crew say there were 16 life boats and two collapsibles; none say there were more than twenty boats in all. The 16 life boats and the one collapsible, which got away, to the limit of their capacity.

"The Impossible Happened.

"Had the ship struck the iceberg head-on at whatever speed, and with whatever resulting shock, the bulkhead system of watertight compartments probably would have saved the vessel. As one man expressed it, it was the impossible that happened when, with a shock, unbelievably mild the ship's side was torn for a length which made the bulkhead system ineffective.

"The Titanic was 1,799 miles from Queenstown and 1,191 miles from New York, speeding for a maiden voyage record. The night was starlight, the sea glassy. Lights were out in most of the state rooms, and only two or three congenial groups remained in the public rooms.

"The crash against the iceberg, which had been sighted at only a quarter of a mile, came almost simultaneously with the click of the levers operated by those on the bridge, which stopped the engines and closed the watertight doors.

Captain on Bridge.
"Captain Smith was on the bridge a moment later giving orders for the summoning of all aboard and for the putting of the life preservers and the lowering of the life boats.

"To relate that the ship's strong band gathered in the saloon, near the end and played 'Nearer, My God, to Thee,' sounds like an attempt to give an added solemn color to a scene which was in itself the climax of solemnity. But various passengers and survivors of the crew agree in the declaration that they heard this music.

"The loading of the first boat, restrictions were not made, and it seemed to the men who filed in beside the women that there would be boats enough for all. But the ship's officer knew better than this and as the spreading fear caused an earnest advance toward the suspended craft, the order 'women first' was heard and the men were pushed aside.

"To the scene of the next two hours on those decks and in the waters below, such objects as 'dramatic' and 'tragic' do but poor justice.

"Of Major Archibald Butt, of Chas. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk; of Benjamin Guggenheim, and of William T. Stead, no one seems to know whether they tarried too long in their state rooms or whether they forebode to approach the fast filling boats none of them was in the throng which, weary hours afterward, reached the Carpathia."

SIZE OF THE TITANIC.

Probably few persons realize the immense size of the wrecked steamer Titanic, which was of almost the same dimensions as her sister ship, the Olympic. The ships were each about 862 feet, 6 inches long, 92 feet 6 inches wide and 93 feet, 6 inches high from keel to top of deck works. The total height of the four funnels was 175 feet from keel to top of funnel. One can scarcely realize the capacity of these great smoke stacks. The best way to judge is to compare their width with the whole distance across the ship. They occupy a very large part, relatively of the space.

They are also immense fore and aft. To judge of the length of the steamer one must imagine it is about as long as from the center of our public square to the east side of the Dunlap House. State street, west of Church street, is about 80 feet wide from the inside line of the opposite sidewalks. The steamer was nearly fourteen feet broader on deck than State street is wide.

As to height, probably the tip top of the new Ayers bank is no higher than the ship was from keel to top of deck works. When one considers how many houses and how large ones, would be required to fill the space within the steamship's steel walls and upper works, some idea may be found of the tremendous amount of room for all purposes included on the great boat.

Anna Held's Opinion of An Automobile
Seattle, Washington. Gentlemen:

I cannot help but say that the big, luxurious Oakland car that took me so easily and comfortably around your beautiful Boston is the easiest riding American built car I have seen. Of course, my foreign machines cost me thousands of dollars, but this is the first American built car that I ever thought their equal.

Respectfully yours,
Anna Held.

You will note by Miss Held's letter that she has had experience with foreign built cars which cost her thousands of dollars. You will also note carefully that the Oakland is the first American built car that she ever thought the equal of the high priced foreign made cars. This is one of the best tributes that has ever been paid to the Oakland, and, coming as it does from a woman who is in a position to judge of the comparative merits of high priced cars and medium cars, it should carry great weight.

COFFEE

Coffee Won't Hurt you

If you get the right coffee. The trouble is that under present conditions of the coffee market its a temptation to dealers to cheapen the QUALITY in order to still give the public an apparently "cheap" price.

There is no coffee that will give you the satisfaction that Robert's Perfectly Blended Coffee will. There is no coffee that will go farther and be more economical in the end, because even at 45 cents per pound it costs you less than a cent a cup, and you drink the best coffee grown.

NEW BLANKS SENT CORONER SKINNER.

More Detailed Records Must Be Kept of Unidentified Persons.

Coroner G. V. Skinner recently received from the state board of health new blanks which are to be used at the inquest of unidentified persons.

The front of the blank is the same as the old one now in use, but on the back there is printed a diagram of the human body. The coroner must measure the head of the corpse, the abdomen, the arms, the lower extremities and mark them on the diagram, also any scars or marks which are on the body. This makes a great deal more work for the coroner, but probably gives a better means of identifying the remains should circumstances arise at a later date.

Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiates. City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

IN HONOR OF MISS LUKEN.

Miss Matilda Richardson entertained at a miscellaneous rush Thursday afternoon at her home, south of Orleans, in honor of Miss Laura Lukken, who is to be married in June to Rev. Herman Hallberg of Arlington, Neb. There were about twenty-five guests present, all of whom were members of the Woman's Country club of Orleans. They accompanied their gifts to the bride-to-be with clever verses. Each guest also wrote a recipe and these were bound into a neat book which was presented to Miss Lukken. Various contests afforded delightful entertainment and the guest of honor favored the company with a number of excellent piano selections, which were greatly enjoyed. During the hours elegant refreshments were served.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Members of State Street Church Hear Reports and Elect Officials For Ensuing Year.

The members of State Street Presbyterian church and congregation held their annual meeting in the lecture room of the church Thursday night. There was a good attendance and the reports from the different organizations showed that the past year has been one of activity and progress. Rev. H. D. French, the pastor, acted as moderator and J. H. Hackett as clerk.

The first part of the meeting was given over to the hearing of reports from the different societies, each being presented as follows:

Elders—T. M. Tomlinson, Church Treasurer—F. E. Farrell, Sunday School—Dean Cochran, Sunday School Treasurer—Miss Anna Floerth, Woman's Society—Mrs. Gaces Strawn, Ladies' Aid Society—Mrs. Walter Ayers, Missionary Society—Mrs. Howard Russell, Woman's Bible Class—Mrs. T. P. Laning, Brotherhood—J. K. C. Pierson, Young People's Society—Rev. H. D. French, Josephine Society—Mrs. A. L. Adams.

The report of Mr. Farrell, the treasurer, showed the church finances to be in good shape. Mrs. Ayers for the Aid society reported a balance of $219.73 in the treasury of the society.

The budget for the coming year was made and the following officers elected:

Elders—J. W. Brown, J. H. Danks and Julius Strawn, Deacons—E. M. Dunlap, Harrison King and John B. Schert, Trustees—C. A. Barnes, E. E. Crabtree and Gaces Strawn, Mrs. T. M. Tomlinson and Mrs. W. H. H. King were elected as members of the music committee, which is to be composed of a representative from the elders, the deacons, trustees, the woman's society and two from the congregation.

DELEGATES WILL BE FOR ROOSEVELT

Eight to Be Named by Republican Convention Today—The Tentative Slate.

Springfield, Ill., April 18.—Eight delegates at large to the national convention instructed for Roosevelt will be chosen at the Republican state convention to be held here tomorrow. The tentative slate is as follows:

Charles S. Deneen, Roy O. West or James Pease, B. A. Eckhart and Chauncey Dewey, Chicago; L. Y. Sherman, Springfield; Walter Rosenfield, Rock Island; L. L. Emmerson, Mt. Vernon or B. F. Harris, Champaign.

No opposition to the slate is expected. The platform to be submitted will commend the administration policies of President Taft, urge the amendment of the Sherman law, approve election of United States senators by popular vote and denounce "jackpot" and bi-partisan control of the state legislature.

The new Republican state central committee organized by electing Roy O. West of Chicago, chairman, and C. J. Doyle of Springfield, secretary. C. J. Doyle was elected temporary chairman of the state convention.

The chief steward of the Carpathia explained the large number of the crew rescued by saying that the majority of them had jumped from the Titanic and were picked up by the boats.

Pretty Mothers

Health is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. This every woman may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much information. Mother's Friend

STATEMENTS MADE BY SERVIVORS

to get me into the boat. As I was put in the boat he cried, "It's all right, little girl; you go and I will stay awhile. I'll put on a life preserver and jump off and follow your boat." As our boat shoved off he threw a kiss at me and that is the last I saw of him."

Wonderful Order Maintained.
Max Frolicher-Stelli, who with his wife and daughter, Margaret, was on the way to this city to visit a brother, said:

The order maintained on the Titanic was what I would call remarkable. There was little pushing, and in most cases it was the women who caused the commotion by insisting that their husbands go with them into the life boats. As a rule the men were orderly. It was not until we had left the ship that many of the women showed flight. From that time on, however, they filed the air with their shrieks."

Miss Elizabeth Allen of St. Louis, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Roberts and Miss E. A. Marshall, also of that city, was one of the rescued women passengers of the Titanic. Miss Allen said:

Although there was plenty of excitement there was no panic. The passengers and officers behaved admirably."

Thirty on Raft.
"When dawn broke their were thirty of us on the raft, standing knee deep in the icy water and afraid to move lest the craft be overturned. Several unfortunates benumbed and half dead besought us to save them and one or two made an effort to reach us, but we had to warn them away. Had we made any effort to save them we all might have perished."

"The hours that elapsed before we were picked up by the Carpathia were the longest and most terrible that I ever spent. Practically without any sensation of feeling because of the cold we almost dropped from fatigue. We were afraid to turn round to look to see whether we were seen by passing craft and when some one was facing us we passed the word that something was coming up one of the men became hysterical under the strain. The rest of us too were nearing the breaking point."

How Capt. Smith Met Death.
George A. Brady of the survivors told of how Captain Smith met his death. He said:

"I saw Captain Smith while I was in the water. He was standing on the bridge at lone. Once he was swept down by a wave, but managed to get his feet. Then he was knocked down by a wave, and this time disappeared from view."

Rescued From Raft.

Simon Senecal, a Montreal merchant, a passenger of the Carpathia, said that after his vessel had rescued boat loads of women, a life raft on which were about 21 persons was seen. "One half of these were dead," he said. "One of the Carpathia's boats went to the raft and took off the living, leaving the dead. The water was thick with bodies. The crew of the Carpathia, in their work of rescue, came across numerous bodies floating in the water. I know of seven instances of persons who had been rescued and buried at sea."

Robert Daniels of Philadelphia said he jumped into the sea as the ship was going down and was picked up in a life boat.

Will Never Forget Cries.
"I waited till the water had reached B deck and then jumped and was picked up by a boat containing 37 passengers and crew," he said. "I saw Mr. Asor still on the ship when I jumped."

"I saw Howard B. Case helping women into the life-boats. He went down with the ship."

"The boats rowed away from the sinking ship in all directions. We saw the great ship lurch bow foremost into the water. We could hear the band playing just before she disappeared. In fact, the band was playing almost from the beginning. We could hear the cries of those struggling in the water after the red cloud over the vessel. They were cries I shall never forget."

United on Carpathia.

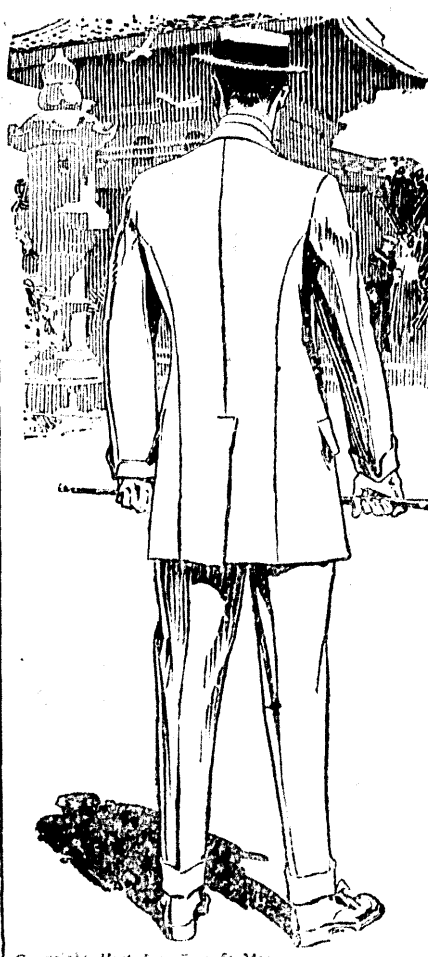

Among those who landed from the Carpathia were Washington Lodge, city assessor of San Francisco, and his wife and son, Washington, Jr., who had been rescued from the Titanic.

"When I saw the ship sinking," he said, "I ran back to the cabin where I had left my wife and child. I found the cabin deck for them and just as I reached deck they were getting ready to lower a boat. They called for women to fill three seats left, but there were no women on that deck and a man shoved me into the boat. I gave my wife and son up for lost. I did not know they had been saved until we met later on the deck of the Carpathia."

Parted For Sake of Child.

Mrs. Edgar J. Meyer of New York said:

"When the ship struck, I begged my husband not to make me leave him. An officer came up and cried: 'All women into the life-boats.' My husband and I discussed it and the officer said: 'You must obey orders.' We went down into the cabin and we decided on account of our baby, to part. He helped me put on some warm clothing. "I got into a boat, but there were no sailors aboard. We called to the ship that there were no men in the boat. They sent a sailor down. An English girl and I rowed for four hours and a half. Then we were picked up at 6 o'clock in the morning. We were well away from the steamer when it went down but we heard the screams of the people on the ship. There were about seventy widows on the Carpathia and all were wonderfully brave. Mrs. Harris says my husband and Mr.

ENSEMBLE RECITAL.

Students of Mr. Kritch Present Program of Merit.

Students of Mr. William Kritch gave a recital of concerted music Thursday evening in Academy Hall. The first number on the program was a trio by Beethoven, for piano, violin and cello, played by Bessie Sorrells, Mr. Kritch and Virgo Jensen. Beethoven has always been considered the classic model for chamber music, particularly for strings, and this trio fairly represents his earlier style. It contains the remarkable balance of parts, the faultless harmonic structure that are his in later works, though there is a more perceptible confinement to rules. The work was played with good ensemble and understanding of its meaning, the first and last movements being especially pleasing.

The romantic school was represented by Schumann, in his trio with the sub-title "Fairy Tales," played by Rachel Jerauld, Carrie Dunlap and Dean Cochran. Schumann's special instrument was the piano, hence the predominance and richness of the piano part in all his chamber music, but he also knew instinctively how to get beautiful effects out of the strings. The viola, which takes the place of the usual cello in this trio, is given some very grateful work, making itself indeed indispensable. The charm of the music, especially in the two middle movements, makes the title entirely appropriate. The three players brought this out with sympathy, maintaining an excellent balance of tone throughout. Andante Cantabile, from the piano quartet, brought the program to a close. This beautiful music, with its deeply felt emotion and spiritual uplift, was given with a surprising precision as well as maturity of conception. The players were Durrell Hatfield, Nathalia Jensen, Dean Cochran and Virgo Jensen. Pains-taking training was everywhere evident. The long experience of Mr. Kritch as an ensemble player has undoubtedly made his interpretations in this line more than usually authoritative.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Thursday night at Grace church the Epworth league gave one of the best socials given in several months by the young people of that church. A large crowd was present and all reported a fine time. The social was in the nature of a field meet, consisting of ten events. The young people present formed into groups, representing four universities, Illinois, Yale, Harvard and Cornell, each having representatives in the events. Illinois won with 14½ points, Cornell was second with 13, Yale third with 12½, Harvard fourth with 10 points. Miss Clara Hopper, Miss Stella Shuff and Miss Sue Fox were managers of Illinois. Philip Read and Miss Flora Hall were in charge of Cornell. Misses Mae Lambert and Marie Miller presided over the destinies of Yale, and Fred Hopper and Miss Emma Elliott took care of Harvard. Ezra Henne furnished a number of very fine selections on the Victor graphophone, adding to the pleasure of the company. This social is the outcome of a contest for new members for the league. Four weeks ago the members were divided into two sections, James Graham being the leader of one section and Miss Stella Shuff of the other. Last Sunday night the results of the contest were announced. Mr. Graham's side had secured 27 new members and Miss Shuff's side 32. It was agreed that the losers should entertain the others and all the new members with a social and it was held last night. Mr. and Mrs. Graham with their assistants surely carried out a splendid evening's entertainment. The league now has the strongest membership it has had for several years. The Sunday night meetings are well attended and much enthusiasm is manifest in the work of this flourishing organization. Harlin Williamson is the new president and is making an excellent leader.

Miss Lucy Barr and Mrs. John H. Russell were the hostesses at a reception given Thursday afternoon at Miss Barr's home, 907 West State street. It was at once, one of the most delightful social events of the season and one of the largest, nearly five hundred invitations having been issued. Flowers were used with especial generosity in all the rooms at the disposal of the guests. American beauty roses, yellow roses, sweet peas, carnations, snap dragon and some other flowers of spring making up a sum total of floral decoration which lent both charm and fragrance to the occasion. Miss Barr and Mrs. Russell received and ladies with hats off were Mrs. F. J. Waddell, Mrs. George E. Matthews, Mrs. V. E. Higgins, Mrs. Charles Joy, Misses Dummer, Mrs. Warren Coss, Mrs. C. C. Phelps, Mrs. S. O. Barr, Mrs. Helen Jordan, Mrs. F. S. Hayden, Mrs. Helen Bullard, Mrs. James Capps, Mrs. Cora Dittie, Mrs. Frank Strawn, Miss Wadsworth, Mrs. N. R. Jerald, Springfield. In the dining room those who poured were Mrs. Fred Stevenson, Mrs. W. B. Young, Mrs. M. H. Havenhill, Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mrs. G. L. Merrill, and Mrs. J. W. Walton, and their assistants were Misses Katherine Barr, Lillian Havenhill, Mary Case, Edith Jordan, Helen Phelps, Martha Hayden, Mrs. Isaac Powers, Misses Helen Ayers, Phoebe Dummer and Helen Barr. At the frappe bowl were Misses Helen Allcott, Lillie Way Rutledge, Phoebe Strawn and Virginia Bullard. In the evening Miss Barr and Mrs. Russell gave a dancing party, the ladies who had assisted in the afternoon, together with husbands, brothers or friends being the guests. Osborne's orchestra furnished the music and the occasion was one of great pleasure.

Fidelity Council, M. P. L., No. 269, gave a calico dance at their hall Thursday evening. The gentlemen wore calico ties to match the ladies' dresses, which made a very neat appearance. About fifty couples were present and good music was furnished by the council orchestra composed of Peter Knobel, William Garrison and Mrs. Stella Bolin. Everyone present reported an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Edward Keating and Miss Nellie Ryman entertained at cards Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Keating on Hardin avenue in honor of their niece, Miss Mayme McBride, who is to be married April 23, to Mr. John Johnson. They were assisted in entertaining by Misses Margaret and Minnie Keating. Delicious refreshments were served and the affair in every way was a most enjoyable one. Prizes were won by Misses Mary Magner, Kitty Mackey and Josephine Foley and the guest prize was given to Miss McBride.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pierson gave a party Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday of their sister, Miss Nannie Foster of Blandville. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner and delightful refreshments were served. The following were among those present: Samuel Latham, Lee Flinn, Lee Harris, Luther Flinn, George Harris, Carl Yancy, Lloyd Latham, William Emerich, Emma Latham, Elizabeth Robinson, Ruth Willis, Helen Saye and Mina Hymes.

Baseball to day—III. vs. Wesleyan. III. field, 3:30.

NEW CASES FILED.

In the circuit court the following cases were filed Thursday for hearing at the May term of court: The People vs. Henry Liere and wife, cruelty to children; same vs. Jesse Wilday, larceny; same vs. Peter Wilday, larceny; Esther W. Davis vs. James Terry, bill to foreclose.

WOMEN SUFFERED IN LIFE BOATS

SCANTILY CLAD AND BURDENED WITH GRIEF SPENT HOURS IN TERROR.

Miss Slater Relates How Orchestra
Played to the End—Astor Lighted
Cigarette and Waved Goodbye to Wife Over Ship's Rail.

New York, April 18.—The sufferings of the Titanic's passengers when taken off the life boats by the Carpathia, was graphically told by John Kuhl of Omaha, Neb., a passenger of the latter vessel. Many of the women, he said, were scantily clad and all were suffering from the cold. Four died in the Carpathia as a result of the exposure.

"In spite of the suffering and the crowded condition of the boats," Mr. Kuhl said, "the utmost heroism was displayed by all of the unfortunate. When they were lifted to the deck of the Carpathia many of the women broke down and there were many touching scenes. Many of the women were incoherent and several were almost insane."

Orchestra Played to End.
"Of all the heroes who went to their death when the Titanic dove to its ocean grave, none, in the opinion of Miss Hilda Slater, a passenger in the last boat to put off, deserved greater credit than the members of the vessel's orchestra. According to Miss Slater, the orchestra played to the last. When the vessel took its final plunge the strains of a lively air mingled growlously with the cries of those who realized that they were face to face with death."

Miss Slater had come from her home in England to visit a brother in this city.

"From the moment the vessel struck, or as soon as the members of the orchestra could be collected, there was a steady round of lively airs," said she. "It did much to keep up good spirits in everyone."

When the ship struck the iceberg, Miss Slater went on deck, she was ordered to go back to bed, which she did, on being assured there was no danger. A half hour later she heard confusion on deck and heard some one cry:

"Order every one to don a life belt."

Fired on Steerage Men.
Running on deck, Miss Slater was ordered to the boat deck aloft. When she got there, she said, "I found an indescribable scene. A number of the steerage men passengers had attempted to seize one of the boats and there was a brisk revolver fire. Many men fell under it. The prompt and drastic action of the officers restored order."

There were many touching scenes as the boats put off. I saw Col. John Jacob Astor hand his young wife into a boat tenderly and then ask an officer whether he might also go. When permission was refused, he stepped back and coolly took out his cigarette case.

Astor Lighted Cigarette.
"Good bye, dearie," he called gallily as he lighted a cigarette, and leaning over the rail said "I'll join you later."

"Another man, a Frenchman, I think, approached one of the boats about to be lowered. He had with him two beautiful little boys. One officer waived him back sternly."

"Bless you," he said, "I don't want to go, but for God's sake take the little boys. Their mother is waiting for them in New York."

"The boys were taken aboard."

Miss Slater dwelt at length on the large percentage of the crew saved. On the boat that carried her away from the sinking ship were nine other men and more than forty men stokers.

STEAD AND ASTOR
CLUNG TO RAFT.

Feet Were Frozen and Releasing
Their Hold Both Were Drowned.
New York, April 18.—One version of the deaths of John Jacob Astor and William T. Stead was told by Philip Mock, who with his sister Mrs. Paul Schabert, was among the survivors.

"Many men were hanging onto rafts in the sea," he said. "William T. Stead, the author, and Col. Astor clung to a raft. Their feet became frozen and they were compelled to release their hold. Both were drowned."

According to a surgeon on the New York Hospital, who went aboard the Carpathia after she docked four bodies were buried at sea from this steamer.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING.

Missionary Societies of Scott and Morgan County Hold Day's Session in Waverly.

The semi-annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Morgan and Scott County association was held in Waverly Thursday with a large number in attendance.

The exercises opened at 9:30 with music by the Ladies' quartet of Waverly and the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Emma Diddle, with response by Mrs. Joseph Jackson of this city. After the business session the following addresses were heard, interspersed with music:

"The Eye That Sees Beyond Our Horizon"—Mrs. S. C. Canan, Pisgah.

"The Price of Africa"—Mrs. J. C. Ellinwood, Ashland.

"The Gospel Ship of the Inland Sea"—Miss Blunt, Jacksonville.

The program of the afternoon follows:

"Missions Pollitic"—Mrs. William Beckman, Pisgah.

Solo—Mrs. Fred Walbaum, Ashland.

"Home Mission Opportunity"—Mrs. Emma Diddle, Waverly.

Reading—Miss Mitchell, Waverly.

"Our Chapel Cars"—Mrs. J. P. Brown, Jacksonville.

A discussion on the outlook closed the program, the benediction being pronounced by Rev. P. H. Aldrich.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. A. A. Curry, Pisgah.

Vice-president—Miss Mabel Goltz, Jacksonville.

Second vice-president—Mrs. A. B. Williamson, Jacksonville.

Secretary—Mrs. W. A. Barrows, Waverly.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. H. Shutt, Waverly.

The following delegates were in attendance from Jacksonville: Mrs. A. B. Williamson, Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. L. B. Turner, Mrs. W. L. Dorgan, Mrs. George Hocking, Mrs. Robert Hensley, Mrs. P. M. Coard. Also Mrs. A. A. Curry, Mrs. J. B. Beckman and Miss Beckman from Pisgah.

CAPT. SMITH SWAM TO SAVE DROWNING BABE

Californian Tells of Officer's Bravery—Hundreds Jumped Overboard.

New York, April 18.—George Brocken of Los Angeles, Calif., rescued by the Carpathia, said:

"I was beside Henry B. Harris, the theatrical manager, when he bade his wife good-bye. Both started toward the side of the ship where a life boat was being lowered. Mr. Harris was told it was the rule that women leave the boat first."

"Yes, I know. I will stay," Mr. Harris said.

"Shortly after the life boats left a man jumped overboard. Other men followed. It was like sheep following a leader."

"Captain Smith was washed from the bridge into the sea. He swam to where a baby was drowning and carried it in his arms while he swam to a life boat which was manned by officers of the Titanic. He surrendered the baby to them and swam back to the steamer."

"About the time Captain Smith got back there was an explosion. The ship trembled. I had secured a life preserver and jumped over. He struck a piece of ice but was not injured. I swam about sixty yards from the steamer when there was a series of explosions. I looked back and saw the Titanic go down bow first. Hundreds of persons were in the water at the time. As the great steamer went down they shrieked hysterically."

"When I jumped from the steamer into the water the band was still playing. The lights on the Titanic were lit until she sank. I was in the water two hours clinging to a piece of wreckage. I was picked up by a life-boat. Every stroke of the oars hit a body. About 6 o'clock in the morning the Carpathia appeared. I saw one of the stewards of the ship shoot a forefinger who tried to press past a number of women and enter a life-boat."

WESLEYAN COMES FOR INITIAL GAME

Illinois College Will Open Season
With Bloomington School This Afternoon.

The initial game of the baseball schedule of Illinois college will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, on Illinois field. The weather man came almost necessitating the postponement of the contest, and Thursday morning Manager Young of Wesleyan phoned if he should bring his team and he was told to come on. The ground is not in the best of condition, but a large quantity of saw-dust has been secured and it will relieve any muddy condition of the grounds.

Wesleyan was booked to play Lincoln college Thursday, but the bad weather interfered. After through with Illinois college they will go to Millikin, their old rival. Manager Harmon gave his men their final practice yesterday and all are in good condition for the contest. Hedgecock will do the pitching for Illinois and as he is going good, ought to make the visitors whiff the air several times. He will be opposed by Young and Steinkraus, both excellent box artists. The line-up of the team will be as follows:

Wesleyan.
Young and Steinkraus, pitchers.
Carlyle, catcher.
Felter, first base.
Pace, second base.
Lucas, third base.
Stautz, short stop.
Ewins, Hall, Kinnie, outfielders.

Illinois.
Hedgecock, pitcher.
Darragh, catcher.
Tagan, first base.
Goodwin, second base.
Buchelt, third base.
Jaccard, short stop.
Apple, left field.
Warren, Ross, center field.
Clowes, Wall, right field.
Umpire—Wright, of Murrayville.

K. OF P. SMOKER.

Given in Honor of J. J. Reeve Recently Elected to State Office.
Members of K. of P. lodge No. 376 gave a "smoker" last night in honor of J. J. Reeve, who was elected to the office of grand outer guard, at the last meeting of the state assembly. The first part of the evening was given over to the conferring of the rank of page on Messrs. Bert Matthews, Herman Cohen and Joseph Volke.

After the work addresses were heard from Judge C. A. Barnes, Robert Tilton, J. O. Monroe and Rev. Walter E. Spoon. They were all spirited talks and enthusiastically received. Mr. Reeve was then called upon and in a splendid manner thanked the order for the meeting in his honor and spoke of his desire to do all in his power in Pythianism. Before adjournment substantial refreshments were served.

Ward.
J. Owen Vasconcellos, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vasconcellos died at 12:30 Monday afternoon at the family residence on East Independence avenue.

Brief funeral services will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock.

The remains of Robert Ward, who died Monday in Mexico, Mo., arrived in the city Thursday afternoon at 5:35 and were taken to Gillham's undertaking establishment. Mr. Ward died from pneumonia and was 73 years of age. He was a veteran of the civil war, being a member of the G. A. R.

The funeral will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Gillham undertaking establishment with interment in Jacksonville cemetery. Members of the G. A. R. will have charge at the grave.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Principal Stoops received a visit from Manager Russell of Beardstown yesterday which had for its object the postponement of the dual track meet between Jacksonville and Beardstown, which was to have taken place next Saturday. There are two reasons why the Beardstown school wished to postpone the meet—first, because they were not fully in training, and second, because tomorrow night they have a high school function in which all participate. Jacksonville is not in the best of shape either, for the meet, but would have kept the date. Manager Russell was of the opinion that the meet could take place a week from Saturday. If this athletic event is pulled off and the J. H. S. men entered the Tri-State meet at Keokuk the local men will have four chances in which to make good. The dates will be:

April 27—Dual meet with Beardstown.

May 3—W. L. H. S. L. here.

May 11—Tri-City meet, Jacksonville, Springfield and Decatur.

May 18—Tri-State meet, Keokuk.

Preparing For Annual.

The members of the Senior class are already preparing for their annual. Class pictures were taken yesterday, 125 freshmen, 110 sophomores, 75 juniors. They are also arranging for the material and expect to have the book ready by time school closes.

The students have been looking about for a name for the production instead of simply the Senior Annual. Principal Stoops suggested the name "Crimson J." which has met with the favor of a number of the students. Other names have been offered and out of the bunch they expect to pick one suitable and preferable to the majority.

SPOKE TO CROWDS IN NEBRASKA

ROOSEVELT WINDS UP HIS TRIP IN STATE.

Expressed Belief He Would Win at Chicago Convention—Repeated Assertion Taft Has Little Strength Except as Derived From Bosses.

Lincoln, Neb., April 18.—Col. Roosevelt zig-zagged across southern Nebraska today, winding up his campaign for support at tomorrow's presidential primaries in this state. He spoke a dozen times to crowds along the way from Nebraska City, where his speechmaking began and tonight addressed a great crowd at the auditorium here.

In his speeches Col. Roosevelt repeated his assertion that President Taft had little strength in the campaign, except as he derived from the bosses. In one of his talks given at Wilbour, he expressed the belief that he would win at the Chicago convention.

"We've put an end to the use of steam-roller in national conventions," he said. "This is the last time they will try it, and we'll knock them out."

Col. Roosevelt declared that, with the exception of civil war times, the country was passing through the most important crisis since the beginning of the republic. He said that the people in their own interest, should support the cause he was representing.

"Understand me," he added, "it is not in my power to promise you the millennium and if I did promise 't you wouldn't get it anyway. All we can promise is to do what we can to help every man to work his own fate. Some people say I'm fighting for you. What I'm really doing is trying to get you to fight for yourselves."

Col. Roosevelt declined to reply to the statement made in Washington today by Congressman McKinley in which President Taft's campaign manager charged that supporters of the former president had spent large sums of money improperly to forward his interests. The colonel said that he would not be drawn into a controversy with McKinley.

At Fremont, Neb., April 18.—"I want to see the people of Nebraska vote tomorrow the way Illinois and Pennsylvania did," Col. Roosevelt said in his speeches today as he was whirled through southeastern Nebraska. "We have the right sort of ourselves in Nebraska; you go forward, but not so fast that you fall over the trip up."

The crowds which met the colonel on his journey were large and they gave him a noisy welcome.

FISCHER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Orleans.

The weather has apparently slipped a foot and the promise now is better weather on Saturdays. We cannot hope so.

The new Sunday school superintendent will make his inaugural address on Sunday morning. He wants the coming of the men in the church.

Subject: "The Appointment of the Twelve."

Preaching service, 11 a. m. Subject: "The Great Titanic Disaster."

Ps. 137:22-24. "They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters. These see the works of the Lord and his wonders in the deep."

Ps. 46:10. "Be still and know that I am God."

Such a Providence should cause men everywhere to fall on their faces before God. O man, what if thou hadst been cast down into the depths of the sea, called from thy couch in the blackness of midnight. Where would be thy boasting now, where thy selfishness, where thy conceit, and thy self will? Some one must needs answer for thee. What a grim messenger of death was that iceberg, born amid the glaciers of Greenland, floating silently and apparently aimlessly in the crowded sea, back and then standing out alone, glorious by day and a terror by night, exhaling its icy breath upon the night air, until it stood flash across the track of the Titanic. Oh what a terrible impact, what death was there; and then the silent monster floated away, its mission accomplished, its work done, now to melt into the sea, and cease to be. It could not think, it could not feel, it could not care. The captain of the Titanic was the brain to think. And if succeeding captains feel and care, Captain Smith and his passengers and crew shall not have died in vain.

Notbury W. Thornton, Pastor.

MUST REDUCE SPEED.

Owing to the bad condition of the track in many cases, due to the frost coming out of the ground and other causes, the Wabash has issued orders for reduction of speed on all sharp curves and on a large number of bridges. In many cases the maximum speed allowed around curves and over bridges is fifteen miles an hour. The Wabash's rail is in many cases a bit too light for the present heavy motive power and too high speed on curves is liable to throw a rail and cause an accident.

WILL RESIDE IN KENTUCKY.

Mrs. Freeman DeWolfe of South Main street left Thursday afternoon for Louisville, Ky., to join her husband, who is a bookkeeper in the office of the Louisville Herald. She will visit enroute with friends at Granite City and St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. DeWolfe expect to make their permanent residence in Louisville. While their many friends regret to see them leave the city they wish them every success in their new home.

Grant Smart of Lynnvill was a visitor in the city yesterday.

As "Ed" Howe Sees Life

It is necessary to curb nearly every Progressive in his disposition to vote bonds for future generations to pay, since we cannot compel future generations to pay present interest.

The opponent most difficult to meet is the one who says to you politely and good naturedly: "You are intelligent, and must inevitably come around to my way of thinking."

Don't you sometimes feel that you need a guardian? If you ever find a very capable one, have him appointed for me, too.

Another Progressive is causing a great deal of uneasiness among automobile owners, by persistently declaring that all automobile engines now in use are wrong in principle, and must be discarded not later than next year.

You usually find that a Progressive in politics is a rank Conservative in his personal financial affairs.

A man doesn't care much for a feast of reason and flow of soul unless he does the talking.

After a girl has been engaged a number of years, she begins to look like a married woman.

I know two brothers-in-law who are in a quarrel. One of them asked my advice. I suggested that he see his relative, and have a candid talk with him. "I have done that repeatedly," he replied. "I have said everything to him that can be said." Isn't this the situation in your quarrels?

You say you are fair, and able to see both sides of a question; but your opponent laughs at your statement. Is it possible for a man to fairly consider his opponent's side of a question? Was it ever done?

A man of good intention will finally get around to a good action as surely as a man with a bad intention will finally get around to a bad action.

PRIMARIES TODAY

Oregon and Nebraska Voters Will Cast Ballots for Candidates—Interest in Campaign.

Portland, Ore., April 18.—Direct primaries will be held in Oregon by the Republican and Democratic parties. Preference for president and United States senators and many state officials chosen.

The Republican presidential primary campaign had been sharply contested.

Senator La Follette yesterday closed a whirlwind campaign while the Taft and Roosevelt forces have been equally busy.

On the Democratic side there has been little activity.

Letting voters in the contest of Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., Republican, for re-nomination. He will face three opponents.

Nebraska Primary.

Omaha, Neb., April 18.—Nebraska voters to-morrow will express their choice for nominees for president, vice president, United States senators, congressmen, delegates to the national convention, national committee men and all elective state officers. The state wide primary campaign has been heated.

While the presidential primary is but advisory, delegates are morally bound to support the popular favorites.

PEOPLE IN DIRE NEED.

Many Appeals For Assistance From Flood Districts.

Washington, April 18.—Major Normoyle at Memphis reported to the war department today that constant appeals for assistance were reaching him from Louisiana points and that destitution in the flooded districts was increasing rapidly.

The steamer Alice Miller sent from Vicksburg today is expected to distribute ten days' supplies at Milliken Bend, Henderson and Atherton. Supplies have been sent from Monroe to Jena and Delhi. Below Natchez, 1,000 people are in dire need.

ITALIAN SHIPS BOMBARD FORTS.

Constantinople, April 18.—It is officially announced that 27 Italian warships bombarded the forts Kilid-Bahr and Sedd-Ul-Bahr, at the entrance of the Dardanelles for two and a half hours. They then withdrew. One Turkish soldier was killed.

It is reported that in the return fire from the forts a shell struck and badly damaged one of the warships.

The ports have proclaimed a blockade of the Dardanelles.

REBEL VICTORY.

Tucson, Ariz., April 18.—Thirty were killed in a battle which resulted in the capture yesterday of Cullman, the capital of Shinola by rebels, according to reports which reached here today.

Earlier reports had been that the federalists had withdrawn from the city and that the rebels had been invited to take possession. After the battle the federalists retreated.

GEN. GRANT'S FUNERAL.

New York, April 18.—Lieut. M. W. Howe, who was aide de camp to Gen. F. D. Grant, announced to day that the funeral of General Grant, which it was reported would be held on April 19, will be held on April 26.

Miss Mayne Arenz of Arenzville was shopping in the city yesterday.

LARGE SUMS OF MONEY USED

ATTENTION CALLED TO FACT BY DIRECTOR MCKINLEY.

Question Being Raised by Lavish Expenditure of Money by Backers of Roosevelt—Are Victories Due to Popular Demand?

Washington, April 18.—Director McKinley of the national Taft bureau today issued a statement calling attention to the alleged use of money in the Roosevelt campaign.

"The lavish expenditure of money in this campaign by the backers of former President Roosevelt," the statement says, "has led to the question being raised:

"Were the victories of Roosevelt in Pennsylvania and Oklahoma due to a 'great popular demand' for his re-nomination, or to the use of money?"

Puncher along Mr. McKinley says: "In no pre-convention campaign in the history of the country has money been used in such large sums, amounting, in view of the general verdict of the country with respect to certain expenditures by senators of the United States, to plain bribery and corruption as has been expended by the backers of Col. Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. McKinley declares the Roosevelt forces spent large sums in Oklahoma; that they distributed $100,000 in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, including Pittsburgh, by issuing 20,000 pieces of "scrip"; that the total Roosevelt expenditures in Pennsylvania were between $250,000 and $500,000; that in New York county alone $200,000 was spent in an endeavor to influence the primaries, and that efforts were made to "buy out" precinct captains in New York.

"In this connection," the McKinley statement says, "one district captain in New York did sell out to the Roosevelt managers, plainly showing that Mr. Roosevelt was not the candidate in answer to a 'great popular demand,' but the beneficiary of a bag of good, hard dollars."

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION.

Election This Year Resulted in Administration Victory.

Washington, April 18.—A straight administration victory was the result of the elections this year of the Daughters of the American Revolution, now in annual session. Among those elected as vice presidents general was Mrs. Lawrence Noyes of Illinois; Mrs. Charles H. Oge of Illinois; and Mrs. John H. Walker of Missouri were chosen the two honorary vice presidents general.

Final disposition was made of the Chalkley manuscripts, which have been a subject of debate among the Daughters for years, when it was decided to day to give them to Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, state regent for the District of Columbia, who it was said, would publish them under her own name. After having spent $1,600 on the manuscripts, the Daughters decided to give them away.

PROMINENT LAWYER GOES TO JAIL.

Chicago, April 18.—Maurice W. Crafts, a young Cleveland lawyer, charged with using the mails in attempts to defraud, pleaded guilty before United States District Judge Carpenter to day and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

An earnest plea for mercy was made by the young man's uncle, Clayton E. Crafts, former speaker of the Illinois general assembly, and others.

The real estate transaction involving the state bank of La Grange in Chicago suburb, caused the downfall of young Crafts.

COMPENSATION BILL.

Washington, April 18.—The senate to day agreed to vote on the work man's compensation bill May 2. Senator Overman of North Carolina gave notice of a motion to postpone until next December.

Madam: Don't be misled Cheap and Big Can Baking Powder is Only Big in Size - Not in Satisfaction - Not in Economy

A large can and a small cost does not make baking powder cheap—or even less expensive than Calumet—the high-quality, moderate-price kind. It certainly cannot make it as good. Don't judge baking powder in this way—the real test—the proof of raising power, of evenness, uniformity, wholesomeness and deliciousness will be found only in the baking.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Is a better baking powder than you have ever used before. And we will leave it to your good judgment for proof. Buy a can today. Try it for any baking purpose. If the results are not better, if the baking is not lighter, more delicious, take it back and get your money. Calumet is medium in price—but great in satisfaction. Free—large hand-loom recipe book, illustrated in colors. Send for and slip found in pound can.

Garden Tools

Of Course You Will Have a Garden

What is home without a garden?

Gardening is a pleasure enjoyed alike by the rich and the poor. It is a health-giving exercise that clears the brain and brings out our best thoughts.

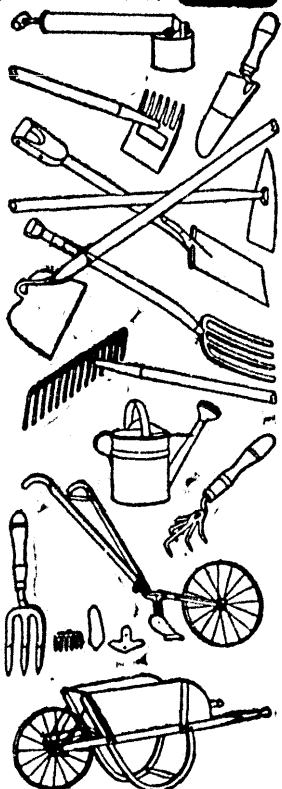

Vegetables that are "out of our own garden" always taste better than any we can buy.

Good tools remove the drudgery and increase the interest. A garden plow is a real help. A hoe that is just right, and other tools that fit, make gardening one of the world's best pastimes.

Not many tools are required but they should be the best.

Decide to-day and let us equip you with all the necessary implements.

When in need of an article in our line do not assume that we do not carry it in stock. Give us a chance to surprise you.

MURDER INDICTMENTS.

Newburyport, Mass., April 18.—Indictments charging Joseph J. Ector and Arthur Giovannetti with being accessories before the fact to murder were returned late to day by the Essex county grand jury. The two men who were Industrial Workers of the World, leaders in the recent textile strike at Lawrence, also were indicted on charges of conspiracy to intimidate on 22 counts. The murder charges grew out of the shooting of a woman during the recent strike riots here.

INVESTIGATORS GO TO NEW YORK

HEAR SUBPOENAS FOR PERSONS ABOARD CARPATHIA.

Anyone Who Can Throw Any Light Upon Cause of Great Marine Disaster Will be Called Before House Subcommittee.

Washington, April 18.—Hearing subpoenas for certain persons aboard the Carpathia, whose names were not disclosed, Senator Smith of Michigan and Senator Newlands of Nevada, two members of the senate subcommittee, which will take the first steps in the congressional investigation of the Titanic disaster, went to New York today to meet the rescue ship. Senator Bourne, the third member of the subcommittee, will join them there tomorrow.

The subcommittee intends to subpoena everyone on the Carpathia who might throw any light upon the causes of the catastrophe. Any attempts as to the powers of the senate to command testimony by J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, or other officers of the company because they are foreign subjects, was dispelled today.

Secretary Nagel, after talking with President Taft, declared there was no question of the jurisdiction of the senate to summon any witnesses who are in United States territory. Secretary Nagel, Supervising Inspector General of the Steamboat Inspection Service, Sergeant at Arms Randall of the senate and his assistants accompanied the senators with a party of others who went to meet friends or relatives aboard the Carpathia. Mrs. Champ Clark and Miss Genevieve Clark, Representatives Levy and Goldfogle of New York and other members of the house are among these.

Chairman Smith said he expected to return tomorrow night or Saturday and that the investigation would be immediately be proceeded with and pressed vigorously. Committees of both houses of congress today ordered favorably reported the Radio communication supervision bills designed to simply wireless work and conserve the efficiency of that service.

If the steamship officials should refuse to respond to the committee's inquiries, it was suggested that steps could be taken to penalize vessels entering harbors without compliance with American requirements and that other action might be considered.

"We are not going into this matter with a club," said Chairman Smith, when this point was suggested. "We have, however, full control of our own investigation and we will proceed cautiously and conservatively."

PARCEL POST SYSTEM.

House Goes on Record in Favor of Measure.

Washington, April 18.—The house to day went on record as favoring the establishment of a parcels post system and a commission to gather information relative to its creation; the condemnation of the express companies; and the Barnhart proposition to make newspapers publish the names of editors, editorial writers and stockholders.

Votes were taken on the propositions as contained in a rule which will bring them up during the consideration of the post office appropriation were overwhelmingly in favor of their immediate consideration. There will be 15 hours of debate, beginning tomorrow, before a deciding vote is taken on the proposal for a parcels post and a postal express.

EIGHTY LIVES LOST.

Details of Destruction of Chilean Steamer Received.

San Francisco, April 18.—Details of the loss of the Chilean steamer Cachapual with 80 lives on the night of March 31st, were brought here today by the British steamer Queen Helena. The Cachapual carried thirty passengers and was manned by British officers and a crew of Chileans. Officers of the Queen Helena said the generally accepted theory was that the Cachapual sunk after her boilers exploded as the boilers had given trouble frequently. Relief ships were unable to find a trace of the missing steamer after she failed to appear at Payta, Peru, on her regular run, March 22.

The Only Plow That Has Both
Foot-Lift and Hand-Lift

Besides you'll find that the very name "John Deere" on any plow insures a lasting saving to you in Service and Durability.

There is no plow made that has a better or easier Foot-Lift than the New Deere—and it also has a separate Hand-Lift. It is the only plow that a boy can lift out of the ground while the horses are standing still.

The New Deere Gang is the only plow that can be controlled perfectly while walking. The auxiliary Hand-Lift gives the New Deere Gang five times the lifting leverage found on other makes and you can raise the plow without getting on the seat.

Lift 7 or 8 inches above ground instantly but easily and it positively the lightest draft plow made. This is due to the peculiar construction of the bottoms. Our longest experience making highest grade plows has taught us where the friction is heaviest, and we have shaped our plow bottoms to give the easiest penetration with the least draft.

Other features of the New Deere Gang are—Adjustable seat—Better steel used in construction throughout—Ease of management—Just-proof wheel boxes—good high wheels—easy running—axles run in oil. Equal distribution of weight on each wheel. Many other features which we will tell you all about if you write or call on us and see our Deere Line.

ILLINOIS ARTIST No. 2616

Renewal of State License No. A 4198, April, 1912.

Pure Bred and Registered Saddle Stallion

This is one of the very best saddle and light harness horses in Illinois. He was exhibited in 1911 by W. E. McClanahan and won the following:

1st under saddle at Charleston in class of 7. 2nd under saddle at Kankakee in class of 10.
1st under saddle at Urbana in class of 6. 2nd in harness at Kankakee in class of 8.
1st under saddle at Carlinville in class of 6. Second in harness at Urbana in class of 8.

You can see by the above record that Illinois Artist is a winner in the harness class in competition with strictly road horses. He had them all beat for style and finish. He is an accomplished five gaited saddle and has a CHAMPIONSHIP at the Illinois State Fair to his credit.

The following is taken from a recent issue of the American Breeder:
"The American saddle horse is the most beautiful and the most versatile horse that is bred in America. His usefulness does not stop at his saddle attainments, for he makes the best of road horses, and has considerable speed when hitched to a light vehicle, and some of the highest priced horses that have won heavy harness, and that ever pulled a heavy carriage, have been recorded in the Saddle Horse Register."

"This class of horses finds a ready sale in the eastern market, and the demand for good ones is far in excess of the supply."
"His graceful movements going the gaits under saddle, with ease to himself and comfort to his rider, make him attractive to the most fastidious, and the demand is becoming greater than the supply, as horseback riding is increasing in popularity each year in the cities. There will be such a demand that prices may soar beyond all comprehension."

"As to the value of the saddle cross; the more style and finish you can get on your harness horse the greater the value. Some of our greatest show horses of to day, both in harness and under saddle, are a cross of the trotting horse with the saddle."

Grain Letter.

Chicago, April 18. Wheat—Active and nervous, but more two sided than for some time. Realizing by local longs was sufficient to offset outside buying by those who were re-instating. Snow's report showed that over 3,000,000 acres would be sown in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and production short, the largest average on record, brought a wave of buying. Heavy selling of September by the northwest on account of the spring wheat outlook was a depressing factor. The market has since Saturday shown a halting tendency. We look for higher prices. If conditions may cause a dropping market temporarily, but we feel positive in the belief that investments in either July or September wheat on such breaks as to day will be profitable.

Corn—Cold, wet weather with severe storms over the entire corn belt, advanced prices sharply. Heavy sales on the advance attributed to the Armour interests and coming mostly into July delivery. Resulted in a sharp break. A partly confirmed report that the corn products company was importing a 18,000 bushel cargo of Argentine corn at the below Chicago parity duly paid in New York, was a demoralizing factor. Argentine corn is not as satisfactory as American, but it indicates how consumers are endeavoring to avoid paying the figures now prevailing. The advance has caused a shut down of many manufacturing concerns, consumers generally are curtailing consumption. Southern demand, which was the mainstay of the recent advance, has almost entirely disappeared. Corn is to be worth its present money, but not much more. Movement is light and will continue so until after planting. A scalping market is probable. The long side of corn on breaks should be profitable, but not for big profits at the present.

Oats—Trade large. Cash houses and local speculators were buyers of May and July. Commission houses took July and September. The sharp break in wheat and corn gave oats a backset in spite of the many bullish influences. Heavy rains and severe storms over all of the oats territory have further delayed planting. Short acreage is sure to be a factor. Talk of putting wheat land into oats is undoubtedly exaggerated. It is too late. Wheat area will go to corn.
